

VIRTUAL
CONFERENCE:

Themes and action points from the IICSA final research report into residential schools

THURSDAY
28
APRIL 2022
09:00-16:15

Following our recent webinar encouraging members to be proactive in their responses to the initial review of major themes and key learning points from the residential schools' investigation as part of the Independent Inquiry into Child Sexual Abuse (IICSA), BSA and Sacpa, again in association with independent safeguarding expert, Marcus Erooga, have prepared an opportunity for members to focus and consider the final investigation report, which was published on March 01, 2022.

This one-day conference has been put together to support members in their efforts to improve standards and provision, especially relating to areas of practice around responding and managing allegations of sexual abuse, and the wider safeguarding culture of the community.

We are delighted that among our guest speakers for the conference will be Fiona Scolding QC, Lead Counsel for the residential schools investigation at IICSA, who will be delivering the keynote address.
